Mr. F. MARION CRAWFORD'S new novel

THE WHITE SISTER

FEW books can so appeal as this will to Mr. Crawford's many readers. The scenes are in Rome, the circle is that of the Saracinescas, in the later days when Ippolito, whom we knew in Corleone, has become a gentle, wise and kindly Monsignor of the Church.

Nothing could be more in Mr. Crawford's best vein than the skillful, shifting contrasts of the hot primitive passions of the south with the still, cool gardens of the cloister, and the peace of life as the tale is fulfilled.

HENRY MILNER RIDEOUT'S

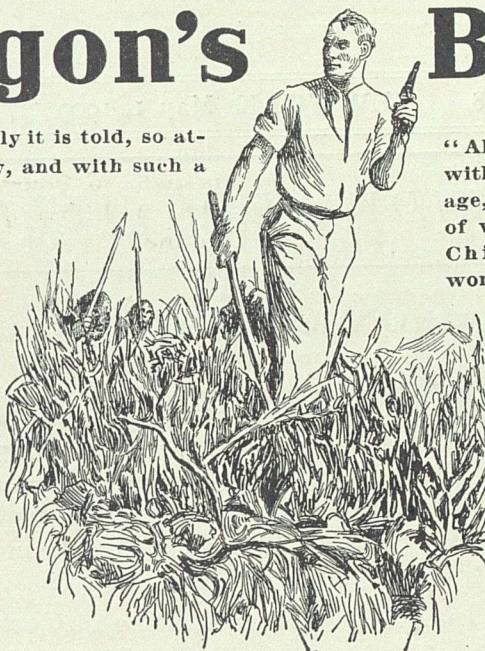

Tale of Love and Adventure

Dragon's Blood

"So vigorously it is told, so atmospherically, and with such a thorough understanding of what makes good story-telling, that I defy anyone who likes a novel of adventure to lay it down until he has gone clear through it."

—William E. Sage in the Cleveland

"Alert and alive with the eerie, savage, romantic spirit of wild China—the Chinese under-world, quite unknown to the ordinary visitor or tourist. In 'Dragon's Blood' Mr. Rideout has surpassed his previous records for fire and exciting action."

—Chicago Record-Herald.

"The author has done a good thing. He has told a good story, so good that the reader even gets a little breathless over it, and at the same time he has made as much of his 'local color' as might have been made by the writer of a book of travel. Not in a long time have we come across a bit of fiction in which an exotic background has been handled at once so unobtrusively and with so effective a touch."—New York Tribune.

The Calling of Dan Matthews

A FOREWORD

A great many times the question has been asked, "Which of Mr. Wright's books do you consider better, The Shepherd of the Hills or That Printer of Udell's?" Can you answer the question? Have you answered it, with satisfaction to yourself? Would it not be more reasonable to say that both books are so good, and yet so different in style and treatment that to make a comparison would be unjust? Who is there can say this is not so?

That Printer of Udell's was one of the best selling books in the United States within the month of publication, and has steadily increased in public favor. So too has The Shepherd of the Hills.

The author's first great success followed by a greater one was remarkable indeed, and it is not strange that his declaration, following the publication of The Shepherd of the Hills, that his next book would be his best was accepted with doubts and misgivings. The fulfillment of his declaration seemed incredible. However, instead of overconfidence, it seems that his modesty was a check to his optimism.

How well he knew his own strength!

Harold Bell Wright has given us the greatest novel of his day and generation in The Calling of Dan Matthews, and in wonder we exclaim: "To what heights may this gifted author not attain? What will his master mind in its broadness and gentleness not grasp?"

The Calling of Dan Matthews is a good, wholesome story, and comes to us like the cannonading of the elements purifying a murky atmosphere. Righteous in its mission, contemporary with present day thought, most beautiful in story, and exceedingly praiseworthy in literary merit.

Big Dan, that manly man of convictions; Hope Farwell, so delightfully refreshing; the old Doctor, true philosopher and poet, and poor little crippled Denny, so sympathetic, loving everything and everybody, are masterful character creations—the best Mr. Wright has yet done.

Would an up-to-date selected list of nearly 800 library addresses—everyone of them a bona-fide book buyer all the year round—interest you?

THERE is a constant call for a select list of public and semi-public libraries in the United States and Canada having funds for book buying every year. Less than one-quarter of the total number of libraries are "live" buyers, and the waste in circularizing a general list is a discouragement to many. To meet this demand there has been included in the Annual Library Index, 1908, just published, a special list of the leading public and semi-public libraries in the United States and Canada confined for the most part to those having not less than 10,000 volumes, $2,000 annual income, and $400 annual expenditure for books. This list includes approximately eight hundred libraries, and gives the name and location of the library, the name of the librarian, the number of volumes, the accessions for the past library year, the annual income and the annual book expenditure—the facts which dealers especially need in appealing to libraries. This list is not published separately but is included with the other valuable features of the Annual Library Index.

NOTES IN SEASON.

MITCHELL KENNERLEY has just brought out a new novel by Sewell Ford, author of "Shorty McCabe." The title of the book is "Cherub Devine."

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have just issued a new edition, at a reduced price, of "Self Cultivation in English," by Professor George Herbert Palmer, of Harvard University.

THE CORONA PUBLISHING COMPANY, 65 West Broadway, New York, has published "The Legacy of a Man Who Wanted to Do His Duty," a collection of epigrams and pithy thoughts on all questions of life.

DANA ESTES & Co. have just ready a novel entitled "A Bride on Trust," by Captain Henry Curties, which begins with a murder on the steps of Buckingham Palace, followed by mysterious inquiries, extraordinary trials, and the hero's pursuit of a beautiful girl, whose surpassing mysteriousness makes everything else in the story seem commonplace.

DODD, MEAD & Co. call attention to a volume which will shortly be in large demand, "My Commencement." This volume provides a place of record for everything dear to the girl graduate—the class history, flowers, motto, yell, autographs, photographs, etc. It has a colored frontispiece and decorations in colors on every page, also a picture on the box cover by Harrison Fisher.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish on May 4 "The White Sister," the novel completed by F. Marion Crawford shortly before his death. It is a love story of modern Rome, the field which is more intimately connected with Mr. Crawford's fame than any other. Lovers of the society he drew so brilliantly will rejoice to find in this, the last of his Italian novels, such an old friend as Ippolite Saracinesca, no longer a young priest, but an influential ecclesiastic whose wisdom brings joy from a chaos of circumstances. The thousands whom Mr. Crawford made familiar with Italian life and character will be glad to learn that almost the last thing he wrote for publication treats once more of his old love. The story, by the way, is the best work produced by Mr. Crawford in recent years. "The Romance of a Plain Man," Miss Glasgow's new novel of Richmond, is announced for publication on May 12.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS publish this week a second edition, revised, and in large part rewritten, of Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet's "Ireland Under English Rule, or, a Plea for the Plaintiff." This is essentially a new book, and those who already have on their shelves a set of the work in its original edition will welcome this second edition as supplementing the facts and arguments presented in the earlier work. While Dr. Emmet's work is frankly a plea for Ireland, he has endeavored to be impartial, and his indictment of the British Government (he draws a distinction between the English people and the English Government) is supported by documentary evidence which the author has carefully verified. Full bibliographical references are given and no work is cited unless the author has, himself, examined the book in question. They have also just ready "Forty Years of American Finance," by Alexander Dana Noyes, which is really the second and extended edition of the author's "Thirty Years of American Finance," a short financial history of the government and people of the United States since the war of 1860-1865 to 1907.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books issued by publishers who protect the prices of their new publications are preceded in this list by the double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. Works of fiction (not net) of which a minimum price is protected by their publishers, are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not protected are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

lishing Co., [1909.] c. '08. 263 p. D. cl., $1.50.

An untechnical account of supernormal occurrences—for Miss Bates will not give the name of "supernatural" to anything which happens, for that would be a contradiction in terms. She tells of her experiences with regard to clairvoyance, automatic writing and other means of spirit communications, addressing the unscientific people for whom her "Seen and unseen" was written.

Bible readings and hymns for school use; prepared at the request of the Board of Education, Ann Arbor, Michigan. Ann Arbor, Mich., George Wahr, 1909. c. 71 p. O. cl., 50 c.

A committee of five was appointed to ask the pastors of the several churches of Ann Arbor to prepare a book of religious character, free from sectarian or theological bias for use in the public schools of the city. The committee recommended the inclusion of the Lord's Prayer, a set of responsive readings from the Revised Version, narrative selections from the Bible and a small number of hymns suited to young people. Music is given with the hymns.

Conger, Sarah Pike. [Mrs. Edwin Hurd Conger.] Letters from China, with particular reference to the Empress Dowager and the women of China; with 80 il. from photographs and a map. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 15+392 p. O. cl., $2.75 net.

These are letters written by the wife of the American minister to China during her official residence in that country—from 1895 to 1904. This period covered the exciting days of the Pekin siege, really the turning point in many ways of Chinese destinies. A graphic account is given of the dramatic events of the time. Mrs. Conger played no small part in bringing the Empress Dowager and the ladies of her court to a better understanding of the outside world, and aided the cause of feminine education in China to a remarkable extent. Her close intimacy with the Empress Dowager reveals the truly great character of that mysterious woman. The letters were written to Mrs. Conger's relatives in America. The numerous photographs which illustrated the book (mostly portraits) are remarkably interesting.

A story of a hidden treasure concealed in a sea-cavern on the shores of a small island in the Pacific. A mixture of adventure, treachery and love.

Curties, Captain H: A bride on trust: romance. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1909.] 384 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "The Queen's gate mystery" has given us another romance of to-day, the theme of which is the love of an officer in His Majesty's Imperial Guards for a beautiful woman whose acquaintance he makes under peculiar circumstances. Daring death and other dangers this brave youth claims her as his wife—truly a bride on trust, for he takes her knowing nothing of her past, fearing nothing for the future. The dénouement is quite as unexpected as it is exciting.

Curwood, Ja. Oliver. The Great Lakes; the vessels that plough them; their owners,

This profusely illustrated book, as entertaining as it is informing, has the twofold advantage of being written by a man who knows the Lakes and their shores as well as what has been written about them. The general reader will enjoy the romance attaching to the past history of the Lakes and not less the romance of the present. To the business man who has interests in or about the Lakes, or the prospective investor in Great Lake enterprises, the book will be found suggestive. The book tells a wonderful story of nature and man.

Gookin, F: W: Our defective American banking system; a diagnosis and a prescription. Chic., Chicago Literary Club, [168 Michigan Ave.,] 1909: 7-52 p. 12°, (Club papers.) (Priv. pr.)

The American banking system is often denounced as the worst now to be found in any civilized land. No other great nation has such periodic recurrence of severe financial crisis. The writer explains the system that is proving such an incubus to the prosperity of the people. He points out that the European method of making loans is in every way better and safer than ours and is in strict conformity with sound banking principles. There is far too much "paper" in all our banks and we have proved that it is not always ready to be turned into cash upon maturity.

sciousness to Jesus Christ; the Barrows lectures, 1906-1907. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1909. c. 41+208 p. O. cl., $1.25 net.

Lectures delivered on the Haskell Foundation to oriental audiences. They are the Barrows lectures of 1906-1907. They attempt to analyze the oriental consciousness from the point of view of an outside observer in full sympathy with his subjects; to unfold certain metaphysical aspects of the Christian religion, which are characteristic of it, though sometimes hidden by forms and institutions; and to exhibit the significance for the world of this correspondence between the sublime elements of oriental consciousness and the profoundly mystical elements of the Christian religion.

Hatt, J. Arthur H. The colorist; designed to correct the commonly held theory that red, yellow, and blue are the primary colors and to supply the much needed easy method of determining color harmony; together with a system of color nomenclature and other practical information for artists and workers or designers in colors. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand Co., 1908, [1909.] c. 15+80 p. pls. sq. O. cl., $1.50.

About 55 years ago a Frenchman, M. E. Chevreul, a manufacturer of dyestuffs, made an extensive series of experiments with colors. He made a great contribution to the knowledge of colors, but not being as well grounded as we now are in the science of color he made several mistakes, which have been perpetuated by color literature since his day. The scientist on light and color is rarely a great authority on art and rarely touches the problems in color which the practical worker must solve. This book gives precise data whereby the color schemes may be analyzed and beauty and color appreciated and produced. Intended for artists, architects, color printers and costume designers.

Jerrold, Walter Copeland. Thomas Hood: his life and times. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 9+421 p. pls. pors. facsim., O. cl., *$5 net.

This work appeared in England in 1907. "The memorials of Thomas Hood," prepared by his son and daughter, children of ten and fifteen years, and published in 1860, showed their idolized father chiefly as they knew him. The first thirty-five years of his life were covered in 67 pages, while upwards of 400 were devoted to the remaining eleven years. The author, whose varied literary work in making the authors of the Victorian period known, speaks for his capacity, now tells the story of Hood's early youth, formative years, his friendships and his unique work. He has had access to many letters written to all the important men of the period.

Jewett, Albert Dewey. Idiomatic ear training: a text book for use in class, to awaken pupils to the use of the listening ability, one of the most important fundamental steps in the study of music. N. Y., A. D. Jewett, 1002 Flatiron Bldg., 1909. c. 29 p. pls. O. cl., $1.

Author aims to teach music in the same way reading is now taught. The musical notes take the place of letters and words. The tune is familiar and the pupil soon learns to hear accurately what the signs convey to his eyes.

- N. Y., Dodge Publishing Co., [1909.] c. 74 p. S. bds., 50 c.
The chorus girl sings of the joys and sorrows, successes and failures of her life in her own queer Broadway dialect. A touch of pathos enters into the poems, and in some cases the girl does not seem "quite so black as she is painted."
- Lee, Sidney Lazarus. A life of William Shakespeare; with portrait and facsimiles. New and rev. ed., with a new preface. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. '98. 45+495 p. D. cl., $2.25 net.
In the present issue, published eleven years after first issue in this country, errors have been corrected, the bibliographies have been brought up to date, and some additions of importance have been made to the biographical information. The new preface covers the new references to Shakespeare that have recently come to light in contemporary manuscript. The author judged that the balance of the chapters in the body of the revised book would be disturbed if these discoveries were noted in detail in their most appropriate places.

He "attempts to show the actual working of the mind as it struggles with problems in the concrete life of the individual, the significance of the mental processes when they are brought to bear upon these problems and the growth in control over the forces of world and of life that comes through the higher psychical process which we designate as thinking."

The professor of psychology in Harvard University, one of the most authoritative positions of the world, has written for the unscientific as well as for the professional reader. He makes his subject clear to men and women who have not specialized. He divides his matter into three parts: 1, the psychological basis of psychotherapy; 2, the methods and results of psychotherapy; 3, the place of psychotherapy, the latter in relation to the church and the medical profession, especially. His aim is to counteract the misunderstandings which overflow the whole field, especially by the careless mixing of mental and moral influence. He does not fight the Emmanuel Church Movement, nor even Christian Science; he recognizes the element of truth in each but regards them as transitions towards scientific medicine.

Author is professor of apologetics and systematic theology in the United Free Church College, Glasgow. These studies are based on addresses on Christian doctrine given at various conferences and Bible schools in America. Few points of real importance in theological study are left untouched, but the treatment is untechnical. Author holds Christian doctrines must constantly be stated anew in relation to advancing knowledge, but that the essential doctrines cannot change.

Waring Ridgway, a born leader, flings himself into the turbid life of a Montana mining town: He becomes the owner of several mines and enters on a war against the Consolidated, which aims to monopolize everything, and becomes dominant in local politics in spite of the fight the Consolidated makes against him through Lyndon Hobart, its local manager. Stung by Ridgway's continued victories over the Consolidated, Simon Harley, the aged chief, visits Montana to "wipe Ridgway off the map." Ridgway figures henceforth in many dramatic scenes, in which Harley's pretty young wife plays a part.

The happy touch of the author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage patch" makes real to us Mr. Opp, the man of two natures, one vain, weak and devoted to gorgeous raiment and seal rings, the other wholly unselfish, who devoted himself body and soul to a mentally weak little step-sister. Mr. Opp became editor and proprietor of a typical village newspaper, and in it teaches some needed truths. His chief assistant is a character and his love story is refreshing.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 1, 1909.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FOREIGN RELATIONS OF THE NEW COPYRIGHT CODE.

A CHIEF gain in the new copyright code, which goes into effect July 1, 1909, is the justice which it does to foreign authors; that is, to authors who write in a language other than English. Such authors may now obtain copyright pure and simple for their works in the original foreign tongue for a period of twenty-eight years and for a renewal period of twenty-eight years, without the necessity of manufacture in the United States, which is imposed upon American and English authors. No American author will object to this greater measure of justice to his foreign brethren, and Great Britain is logically estopped from objection or criticism because it has adopted into its patent law the bad precedent of our manufacturing clause in the copyright law. This modification of the manufacturing clause was accepted without objection by the typographers, who are the effective upholders of the manufacturing clause, because it was seen to be as much in their interest as in that of foreign authors. Almost no reprints have been made here under the Act of 1891 of the original text of foreign books, and it is expected that in the case of such foreign works as become known here through the copyright protection of the original text that the translation into English, in which case they must be manufactured here, will be more frequent because of the attention won by the original text. Happily, this wise concession will have the good effect of stopping the agitation in Germany, France, and elsewhere, in favor of copyright retaliation against this country, and the action of the American Copyright League in obtaining this concession has been received with gratification by foreign authors and publishers.

As indicated in the circular of the Copyright Office, reprinted elsewhere, it is possible to obtain full copyright for foreign works, in a language other than English, not only for those published after July 1, 1909, but for those published since July 1, 1908, in case the proper precautions are observed. In other words, a book which enjoys ad interim protection for twelve months under the Act of March 3, 1905, may receive full protection under the Act of March 4, 1909, in case the twelve months have not already elapsed, that is, in case it has been published since July 1, of last year. What these proper precautions are is fully set forth in the circular of the Copyright Office, to which careful attention should be given by all continental authors and publishers.

As regards foreign relations in respect to English books, the effect of the new copyright code is of rather a boomerang character. While the manufacturing clause "protects" American typographers and book-manufacturers the importation clauses practically discriminate against the American booktrade, booksellers as well as publishers. The new code provides not only that a library or kindred institution may import individual copies of any copyrighted book, but that any individual may import "for use and not for sale" individual copies of any work except one by an American author. The phrase "for use and not for sale" has the specific effect of preventing the American bookseller from dealing in books on the basis on which his customer can import them and so throw a considerable share of retail trade into the hands of the English retailer and the American importer. As Mr. George Haven Putnam again points out in his letter to The Dial this is a serious injustice. The American publisher is also discriminated against in the new code, as before, by the fact that the American market is thus open to the English publisher and the American importer so that an American publisher can be assured only of a portion of the American market and must, therefore, hesitate to enter upon re-publications or international enterprises. As has often been pointed out copyright involves monopoly in the sense in which all private property is monopolized, and it is a pity that the new copyright code, excellent in so many features, is so defective in this respect in transgressing the rights of one class of American citizens in the endeavor to serve the convenience of others.

RESERVATION OF COPYRIGHT ON BOOKS IN LANGUAGES OTHER THAN ENGLISH.

THE following circular (No. 33, A.), issued by the Copyright Office of the Library of Congress, should interest those interested in copyrighting books in languages other than English:

The new consolidated United States Copyright Act of March 4, 1909, going into effect on July 1, 1909, will abrogate the ad interim copyright Act of March 3, 1905, on the first day of July, 1909.

But all books which have obtained protection under the Act of March 3, 1905, within the year previous to July 1, 1909, will then be entitled to copyright under the new Act for a first term of 28 years, with the privilege of renewal for a second term of 28 years (56 years in all.) Claimants who have made registration under the Act of March 3, 1905, subsequent to July 1, 1908, will not after July 1, 1909, be obligated to reprint their books from type set within the United States, but in lieu thereof will be required to make a deposit in the Copyright Office, promptly after the first of July next, of two copies of the original foreign edition.

In order, however, to secure the protection guaranteed by the Act of March 4, 1909, care must be taken (1) to comply with the requirements of the Act of March 3, 1905, and (2) on or after July 1, 1909, to comply with the provisions of the Act of March 4, 1909.

I. HOW RESERVATION OF COPYRIGHT MAY BE SECURED UNDER THE ACT OF MARCH 3, 1905.

In order to insure the benefits available under this Act, the following measures are required to be taken:

1. Print upon all copies of the original edition of the book desired to be protected:
 - a. The true date of first publication;
 - b. The name of the person reserving the privilege of copyright as proprietor of the work.

This notice must be printed in the following form and no other:

"Published ——— [here insert the true date of first publication of the book.] Privilege of copyright in the United States reserved under the Act approved March 3, 1905, by ——— [here insert the true legal name of the author or proprietor]."

This notice must be printed on the title-page or on the back of the title-page.

2. One copy of the book must be sent by post or otherwise, addressed

Library of Congress (Copyright Office), Washington, D. C., United States of America.

This copy must be complete, with all illustrations, maps, etc.

It must be sent so as to reach the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., U. S. A., within thirty days after first publication abroad; otherwise the desired protection cannot be secured.

It must be sent with all charges prepaid.

The book should be accompanied by a statement that it is sent under the provisions of the Act of March 3, 1905, in order to justify the claim of the reservation of copyright. This statement should preferably be made upon the printed form supplied with this circular. The statement should contain the full legal name and residence of the copyright claimant, the nationality of the author, the title of the book, the date of first publication, and the claim for reservation of the copyright. If the printed form of application is used, the Post Office authorities state that the copy and application can be sent together, under the postage rate in force for commercial papers. If the printed form is not used, the same statements should be supplied in the form of a letter, but should then be sent sealed by letter post.

No fee is required to be sent with the copy of the original edition of the book.

Exact compliance with the above directions will secure for a period of twelve calendar months from the date of first publication:

- a. Protection against any infringement or appropriation of the work in any way, including unauthorized translation of it;
- b. Free access to the United States market for the sale of the work.

Under the laws in force, if the book is printed wholly in some language or languages other than English, no customs duties will be required to be paid.

II. HOW COPYRIGHT FOR FULL TERMS PROVIDED BY ACT OF MARCH 4, 1909, MAY BE SECURED.

Having complied with all the above-described stipulations, and thus secured protection for the interim term of twelve calendar months after the date of first publication of the book, in order to obtain the full benefit of the longer terms (28 plus 28 years) provided in the new law in force July 1, 1909, the following steps are required to be taken:

1. Two copies of the best foreign edition of the book must be deposited in the Copyright Office before the end of the year of ad interim protection, but preferably on or promptly after July 1, 1909.

2. These copies must be accompanied by a letter requesting registration of the book under the new law, stating the citizenship of the author, and the name, citizenship, and address of the claimant of the copyright, and date of publication of the book.

3. A fee of $1 must also be enclosed in an international money order, payable to the REGISTER OF COPYRIGHTS, Washington, D. C., U. S. A. This fee secures registration and a certificate under seal to show that registration has been made for the first term of protection of 28 years. No other fee is required.

4. All copies of the book should be printed on the front or back of the title-page the notice required by the new law of 1909, viz.:

"Copyright, 19—, by ———" (name of claimant of copyright) or

"Copr., 19—, by ———" (name of claimant of copyright).

Such copies must be forwarded with all costs of transportation paid. But the fee of $1 will cover all other costs.

No action can be taken to secure the renewal of 28 years, until 27 years after publication.

THORVALD SOLBERG, Register of Copyrights.

COPYRIGHT ON BOOKS TO BE PUBLISHED AFTER JULY 1, 1909.

In the case of any work not to be published until after July 1, 1909, on which date a new copyright law goes into effect, application for registration in this office should be postponed until the printed copies of the work required by law can be deposited.

In the case of any work to be issued to the public before July 1, 1909, action should be taken under the old law, by depositing the required printed title and two printed copies of the work in this office, not later than the day of publication, with an application and fee for registration.

THORVALD SOLBERG, Register of Copyrights.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS: COPYRIGHT OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

COPYRIGHT AND THE PRIVILEGE OF IMPORTING.

GEORGE H. PUTNAM, in a communication to The Dial of April 16, on the privilege of importing copyright books under the new copyright act, says, among other things:

"Under present conditions, when an American publisher divides with an English publisher a publication originating in Great Britain, or a series of an international character contributions for which are secured from all parts of the world, the English publisher obtains, under the British law and under the provisions of the Berne Convention, the full control and advantage of the editions brought into print by himself, for Great Britain, for the British Empire, and for Europe. He also secures, under the inconsistent provisions of the American law, the right to distribute copies of his editions throughout the United States, a right of which he is naturally availing himself to an increasing extent from year to year.

"The American publisher, on the other hand, is entirely excluded from Great Britain and from Europe, and secures in his own market not the exclusive control, which is the theory of copyright law, but simply the privilege of selling in competition with the English publisher.

"Such an operation of the law works injustice and, necessarily, discourages international publishing arrangements and joint publishing undertakings. It constitutes what might be called 'boomerang' protection,—that is to say, it is a specific advantage given by American law to a foreign competitor.

"The American publisher does not ask for any special privileges. He does ask, and he has a right to secure, under any civilized system of copyright, the control of the property that he purchases and in which he is called upon to make investment. The American reading public has, apart from the matter of doing justice to the American publisher, a direct interest in securing an equitable and consistent copyright law. It is important for the literary and higher educational interests of the country, and for the requirements of American bookbuyers, that the business of producing American editions of books originating abroad, shall be encouraged. It is also important for the same interests that the business should be encouraged of bringing into publication international series the contributions for which shall be secured from all parts of the world. The American reader is entitled to the best that there is in the matter of science or literature. This can be secured only if the production of American editions of international series can be furthered. Under existing conditions, the publication of such series and of American editions of transatlantic books is, of necessity, discouraged.

"I may give as an example the Cambridge History of English Literature. The publishers are called upon to make in the production of the American edition of this work an investment that will amount to some thirty thousand dollars. The work, from its compass and character, must depend for its chief demand upon libraries, or upon the wealthier of individual buyers, those who are likely to have connections and accounts on the other side of the Atlantic. A large portion, and an increasing portion, however, of the American demand for this set is being supplied, through London purchasing agents, with copies of the English issue. This is not because the English issue is more attractively printed, for the typography of the American volume is more satisfactory. The difference in price is but trifling. The librarians, however, who have standing arrangements with purchasing agents in London, find it an inconvenience to instruct these agents to except from their shipments books which are being produced in copyrighted American editions, while the purchasing agent is, naturally, interested in making his shipments as large as possible. As a result of such standing instructions, it is frequently the case that the American librarian purchases the English edition of a work at a considerably higher price than he would pay for an American edition equally attractive in form, and often better suited for the needs of the American market.

"It is, however, quite in order that in the cases in which a purchaser, whether a librarian or an individual buyer, prefers the transatlantic to the American edition, he should be placed in the position to secure such transatlantic issue. Under the American law back of 1891, there was no difficulty, and under the present English statute, there is no difficulty, in importing, under the permission of the owner of the copyright, copies of the transatlantic edition. Such an order can be placed either directly with the publisher controlling the copyright, or with any intelligent bookseller, whose importation is then made through the publisher. Such an arrangement would meet your suggestion that a customer who may not have a transatlantic account should be placed in a position to purchase, through a bookseller, a copy of the English issue, securing the same privilege that is accorded to the individual who happens to possess an account in London. The only requirement made under a consistent and equitable copyright law is that the importation must be made through the publisher to whom has been assigned the American copyright.

"There is no little confusion in the mind of the public generally, and of their representatives the legislators, in regard to this matter of a consistent and equitable copyright, a copyright that shall carry out the expressed purpose of copyright law—the furthering of literary production.

"As an appendix to this communication I quote an opinion that has come to me from Mr. L. E. Scaife, one of the leaders of the Suffolk Bar (Boston) in regard to the right on the part of the owner of a copyright, or of an assign, under the English and American statutes, to control the matter of importations of the copyrighted article."

"Since the year 1710, nobody but the owner of the English copyright of book has had the right to import into England such copyrighted book without the written consent of such owner; and from 1790 down to the passage of the United States Statute, of 1891, nobody but the owner of the United States Copyright of a book had the right to import into the United States such copyrighted book without the consent of the owner. The United States law concerning importation was so clearly adapted from the English statute of 1710 that the English decisions have of necessity been given great weight in the American courts. . . . The provisions of the act of March 3d, 1891, ought to be interpreted in connection with the entire history of the copyright law of the world."

SUGGESTIONS TO ENGLISH EXPORTERS OF BOOKS TO THE U. S.

W. R. BROWNE, of Brown's Bookstore, Chicago, offers through The Publishers' Circular the following suggestions to English dealers in sending books to the United States:

(1) Books printed from plates manufactured in America, or books published twenty years or more previous to date of invoice, should be invoiced separately and the invoice marked "Not subject to duty."

(2) Charges for cases, packing, consular fee, &c., should be made on a separate invoice, to be mailed direct to the consignee, and never included on the same invoice with dutiable books.

(3) The invoice for a shipment should mention only the items actually shipped. Some English dealers are in the habit of making out the invoice in exact duplication of the order, then filling in extensions of prices for the items shipped, and marking the other items "o.p." or whatever the case may be. Report of items not sent should be made by letter, and never on an invoice.

(4) Besides the invoice to accompany the consular certificate, a duplicate invoice should immediately be mailed direct to the consignee.

"Failure to observe these four simple rules," Mr. Browne says, "results not only in needless annoyance to the American importer, but an actual money loss, which in the aggregate is very considerable. Hence the bookseller on this side avoids importing whenever possible, and the English trade loses many orders that might otherwise come to them."

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN, according to a Washington despatch to the New York Tribune, has become interested in the preparation of a history of the American Indian. It is understood that he will invest a quarter of a million dollars or more in the work, which will be one of the most comprehensive of its kind ever attempted by ethnologists. There will be twenty volumes, and it is estimated that each set will be worth at least $5000.

E. S. Curtis, the historian and ethnologist, who is compiling the work, appeared before the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs on March 30 and told the members he had been engaged on the work for several years. Mr. Curtis, who is an expert photographer, has a splendid collection of Indian photographs. This collection attracted the attention of Mr. Roosevelt over a year ago, and he persuaded Mr. Curtis to exhibit the pictures at one of the Washington clubs. Mr. Morgan saw the collection, and became so interested in the idea of a history of the American Indian that he volunteered to pay all the expenses of Mr. Curtis and a corps of men working under him, stipulating only that they should prepare a full and complete history, including illustrations.

It will be four or five years before the actual work of publication begins. It is understood that the edition will be limited, and that the plates will be destroyed when enough copies have been printed to supply leading libraries here and abroad and a few of Mr. Morgan's personal friends.

THE ADVERTISING OF "FAKE" BOOKS AND BOOK SCHEMES.

THE advertising of "fake" books and book schemes is usually done through circulars and the lower order of periodicals; but frequently, The Dial is "sorry to say, it appears in otherwise reputable magazines. We noted recently in Current Literature a full-page announcement headed, in large type, 'Stevenson's Complete Works at a Bargain.' The phrase 'complete works' is repeated several times in the course of the advertisement, and we are told that 'now for the first time is presented to the countless admirers of Stevenson the opportunity of possessing his famous works in form worthy of the author's genius.' Comparison of the printed list of contents with the contents of the authorized copyright edition of Stevenson issued by the Messrs. Scribner shows that this 'complete edition' contains in actuality something over half of Stevenson's published writings. In its fraudulent claims this advertisement is hardly more than typical of the numerous announcements of 'editions de grande luxe,' 'publishers' remainders,' the 'exclusive sale' of some time-honored plug of the book-jobber, 'world's greatest extracts,' and other literary junk, which confront us shamelessly in many of our prominent magazines. It is not likely that bucket shops, medical 'specialists,' lotteries, astrologists, etc., would be permitted by these magazines to prey upon their subscribers; yet the book swindler, no matter how barefaced his pretensions, seems never to be barred. Perhaps the most effective way of bringing about a reform would be for reputable book publishers to refuse to advertise in periodicals that lend their pages to the exploitation of 'fake' book schemes."

A TYPOGRAPHIC LIBRARY AND MUSEUM.

A NOTABLE collection of articles to preserve the memories of old-time printers and their achievements and to illustrate the progress of printing in all periods and climes, particularly in America, is contained in the Typographical Library and Museum of the American Type Founders Company in its general offices and foundry, 300 Communipaw Avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

The collection contains specimens of types used in all countries from the invention of printing to the present, histories of printing and publishing, biographies of famous printers, books printed by famous printers of all periods and from all countries, books of historic interest.

First issues of newspapers, magazines and books from all States in the Union, books relating to engraving, with examples of the work of famous engravers, portraits and autographs of famous printers and type founders, medals relating to typography.

Curiosities of typography, books relating to papermaking, specimens relating to commercial printing of all periods, collections of trade papers relating to printing in all languages from the earliest known to the present, publications of printers' societies, text-books of printing in all languages and others.

This library and museum is under the care of a librarian and additions are made almost daily. It is open to the public during business hours.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION NO. 6 A CENTURY OLD.

THE New York Typographical Union, No. 6, will celebrate its centenary on May 10 by holding a dinner at the Broadway Central Hotel, New York. One of the features will be the singing by the whole assemblage, led by a quartet, of "The Old Oaken Bucket," in honor of the author of that song, Samuel Woodworth, who was one of the early members of the organization.

Among the speakers will be Samuel B. Donnelly, James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union; the Rev. Dr. Silverman, the Rev. Luke J. Evers, rector of St. Andrew's Church, and James Tole, president of "Big 6." Invitations have been sent to Governor Hughes and Mayor McClellan.

SHAKESPEARE'S 345TH BIRTHDAY.

THE 345th anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare was celebrated at Stratford-on-Avon on April 23 on an elaborate scale. The city, which was crowded with visitors, was festively decorated. One of the principal features of the ceremonies was the unfurling of forty-one national flags, representing together the countries which were making the special tribute to Shakespeare. The American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, unfurled the flag of the United States and placed on the tomb a wreath sent by the Players' Club of New York City. Mr. Reid drew attention to the fact that when Shakespeare's grave was made the City of New York did not exist, while to-day this tribute came not only from the second city of all the English speaking people but from the second city of the world. Forbes Robertson delivered an eloquent tribute to Shakespeare at Southwark Cathedral.

RUSSIA STILL CENSORS BOOKS.

THE recent announcement of the United States Post Office Department that Russia had removed the prohibition against sending bound books from other countries into Russia by mail, seems to have led to a misunderstanding in America, it apparently being supposed that the Russian government had withdrawn its censorship over books. This, however, is not so. The customs department regulation, under which book covers were liable to duty has been abolished, and bound books are now allowed to enter as unbound, but the censorship over printed matter still persists.

AN EDITION OF THACKERAY BRINGS $858.

AN edition of Thackeray in fifty-two volumes, illustrated with hand-colored title-pages and with an autograph of the author in the first volume, brought the highest price at the sale of the library of James R. Perrin at the Fifth Avenue Art Galleries, New York, on April 27. E. Frisbie, the purchaser, paid $858 for it.

For an edition de luxe—six volumes—of the Heptameron, with the works of Rabelais, illustrated on Japanese vellum, A. Lyman paid $720. The Wormeley edition of Balzac, in forty volumes, brought $480. Mr. Fillmore obtained "The Days of the Dandies" for $345, or $21 a volume.

The Tamerlane edition of Poe's works, in ten volumes, was sold to Ogden Mills for $180. John D. Crimmins paid $140 for an original autograph quit claim deed signed five times by George Washington. The total of the sale was $9863.

COMMUNICATIONS.

W. B. CLARKE ON THE "SUICIDAL FOOLISHNESS" OF THE BOOKTRADE.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: My attention has just been called to an editorial in the issue of April 17, entitled "Bookselling Here and Abroad." I notice that you criticise the booksellers who spoke before the Authors' Club, in connection with an address given there by Professor Münsterberg. I regret to say that the text of your article is radically wrong, owing to reliance upon the report as given in the New York Evening Post on Saturday, April 10, which has also come to me for the first time within five minutes.

The facts are, that I did consent to attend the meeting of the Authors' Club, not to argue for or against whatever Professor Münsterberg might say or have said upon the subject of bookselling in America as compared with that in Germany. My remarks were to the effect that, having read Professor Münsterberg's article in the Atlantic Monthly, and, having heard his remarks, it seemed eminently proper that I should state the condition of the booktrade in this country, which I proceeded to do in almost exactly the same words used at an informal gathering of publishers and booksellers some months ago. If what was said there was the proper thing to be said at that time, what I said in Boston was equally proper to be said then and there.

I was no more severe upon the publisher than I was on the retail bookseller. I have rightfully been severe on both in remarks which I have made at all times when speaking in public upon the subject for several years past. It is difficult to conceive anything more suicidally foolish from a business standpoint than the attitude of both bookseller and publisher for a number of years past.

Mr. Dole's report was, in the New York Evening Post, unintentionally I presume, misleading in the extreme.

I think my attitude past and present is sufficiently well understood in the booktrade to make it unnecessary for me to waste further space upon this subject.

Yours truly,

W. B. CLARKE.

Boston, Mass., April 20, 1909.

[We regret that we were misled by the Boston correspondent of the New York Evening Post into criticising Mr. Clarke and his colleague for not rallying in defence of the American bookseller against the charges made against him by Professor Münsterberg for permitting "the productions of the poor author to sink into oblivion" because of his ignorance and lack of enterprise. Yet it appears from Mr. Clarke's own statement given above that he did not so much take the part of his fellow bookseller—in fact, speak in defence of himself—as to supplement Professor Münsterberg's animadversions by being "severe" upon the publisher and the retail bookseller for being "suicidally" foolish from a business standpoint. We have the highest regard for Mr. Clarke's endeavors to better the conditions of the retail booktrade; but a discussion of that is another story. What we should have wished him to do in this particular case was to have a tilt with Professor Münsterberg if only to break a spear with him.—Ed. P. W.]

OBJECTION TO NOTICE OF NET BOOKS.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: A number of publishers issuing net books insert at the title-page a small slip printed as follows:

NET BOOK.—This book is supplied to the Trade on terms which will not allow of Discount to the Public.

These slips seem to defeat the purpose for which they are intended as, when a customer who is not accustomed to receive a discount, sees these slips, he invariably asks on what we allow a discount.

It seems to the writer that it would be better to omit these slips entirely. The way to get list prices for books is to make no mention of discount, then, when the book is priced at $2, the customer knows the price is $2.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES G. PEKER.

New York, April 19, 1909.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE OPTIMIST CLUB OF AMERICA, at 10 West Thirty-third Street, New York, have decided to give permanence to the movement through the publication of the Optimist's Magazine.

THE INDO-AMERICAN BOOK CO., 19 North Kezdie Avenue, Chicago, has just begun the publication of The Indo-American Magazine, which will be "devoted to the 'Great Work,'" a book which was written to help in "building the temple of human character to a point where a man is able to overcome the conditions, which limit his sphere of activity to the world of physical material things, and independently to enter the realms of the spiritual, thus demonstrating, by a personal experience, the reality of another life."

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL JUNE BARROWS, a well-known writer on sociological subjects and for sixteen years editor of the Christian Register, died in New York on April 21. He was born in New York on May 26, 1845.

SCHOLARSHIP suffers a loss in the death, just reported from Rome, of the distinguished archeologist, Professor August Mau, whose book on Pompeii, published in English some years ago, is the standard work on that subject in the English language. Born in Kiel, October 15, 1840, he studied classical philology in the Kiel University and became a teacher, but he was "ordered" south, and secured an appointment at the German archeological institute at Rome. But Pompeii became his specialty, and he lectured every year before the American Archeological Institute as well as his own. Besides "Pompeii in Life and Art," he wrote several learned works in German on the same subject.

DR. ANTHONY N. JANNARIS, an eminent Cretan scholar and author of many classical and scientific works, died on the Majestic, April 26, on his way to Syracuse, N. Y., to join his wife, who is very ill. Born at Lakkai, a small village of Kydonia, in 1852, Dr. Jannaris was a nephew of the celebrated Cretan chieftain, Hadji Michael Jannaris, and a grandson of Nicholas Jannaris, one of the great heroes of Crete. In 1889 Dr. Jannaris was made lecturer on Greek literature at the University of Athens. The same year he took part in the Cretan insurrection and was proscribed by the Sultan of Turkey. He then went to London, where he worked for six years in the British Museum investigating the history of the Greek language. During the Cretan troubles of 1897 he was a member of the Insular Assembly, and from 1896 to 1904 he was a lecturer on post-classical and modern Greek in St. Andrew's University, in Scotland.

JULIEN SHOEMAKER, for nearly sixty years connected with J. B. Lippincott & Co., and their successors, died at his home at 2038 Arch Street, Philadelphia, on April 23. Mr. Shoemaker was born October 23, 1825, at Plymouth Meeting, Montgomery County, Pa. When through with his schooling, he was apprenticed to learn the trade of printer and bookbinder. On February 1, 1850, he entered the employ of J. B. Lippincott, by whom he was admitted into the firm in 1869. When the firm of J. B. Lippincott Company was incorporated in 1885, Mr. Shoemaker was elected a director, which position he held at the time of his death. Though born and raised a Quaker he early in life became interested in the Swedenborgian movement and attached himself to the First New Jerusalem Society and for the past thirty years was its treasurer. In addition to the widow six sons and one daughter survive Mr. Shoemaker. Three of the sons, Charles J., Joshua L. and Owen, compose the firm of J. L. Shoemaker & Co., of Philadelphia. The other sons are Drs. Harvey Shoemaker and William T. Shoemaker, of Philadelphia, and Alfred Shoemaker, of Newark.

CHARLES WARREN STODDARD, of that group of authors which includes Bret Harte, Mark Twain and Joaquin Miller, died at Monterey, Cal., on Saturday, April 24, aged 65 years. Mr. Stoddard was born in Rochester, N. Y., August 7, 1843. He was educated at the common schools of New York and California and at the University of California. Ill-health prevented his graduating. For a short time he was an actor, but his talents were not in the direction of that profession. He then spent five years as travelling correspondent for the San Francisco Chronicle, visiting every part of the world and gathering the information he turned to such excellent account in the books which brought him the name of "the American Pierre Loti." Among his publication are "Poems," 1867; "South Sea Idyls," 1873; "Marshallah, A Flight Into Egypt," 1881; "The Lepers of Molokai," 1885; "A Troubled Heart," 1885; "Lazy Letters from Low Latitudes," 1894; "The Wonder Workers of Padua," 1896; "A Cruise Under the Crescent from Suez to San Marco," 1898; "Over the Rocky Mountains to Alaska," 1899; "In the Footprints of the Padres," 1902; "Exits and Entrances," 1903; "For the Pleasure of His Company," 1903; "Father Damien—A Sketch," 1903; "The Island of Tranquil Delights," 1904; "The Confessions of a Reformed Poet," 1907, and "The Dream Lady," 1907.

PETER FENELON COLLIER, the well-known publisher, died very suddenly of apoplexy in the Riding Club, No. 7, East 58th Street, New York, in the early morning of Saturday, April 24. Mr. Collier was born at Myshall, County Carlow, Ireland, on December 12, 1849. He came to this country in 1865, and began work in car shops in Dayton, O., where he made money enough to enter the seminary at St. Mary's of the West at Cincinnati. After his graduation he went into the book business with $35, lent him by Bishop Byrne, of Nashville, Tenn. He began his career in the booktrade in the employ of Sadlier & Co. Later he canvassed for the Bibles and albums published by John E. Potter & Co. His first start in the publishing business on his own account was the purchase of the plates of the popular Catholic work, "Father Burke's Lectures." He made a success of selling the book. This encouraged him to attempt other Catholic literature, and in 1874 he published "The Life of Pius ix.," and from then on he has been a wonderfully prosperous publisher. He published editions of standard authors at low prices, and Collier's Library of Popular Novels, which appeared twice weekly and was sold only in connection with Once a Week, now known all the world over as Collier's Weekly. Mr. Collier had great executive ability, and his perfectly organized business enabled him to reduce the cost of book production to the minimum.

OLIVE LOGAN, the American actress and author, died on April 27 in an asylum for the insane at Banstead, Eng., where she had been since the beginning of this year. Olive Logan was born at Elmira, N. Y., on April 16, 1841. Her father was an actor and she was brought up in the dramatic profession, often going on the stage when a little girl in the arms of Booth and Forrest. She left the stage when sixteen and studied abroad for several years. In 1861 she returned to this country, and resumed her career as an actress, becoming also a playwright. She was married three times, the last time to James O'Neill, who had been her secretary. For years little was heard of Olive Logan. People spoke of her as one who had died, but no one felt sure whether she was dead or not. Then one morning an old woman dressed in rusty black, who carried an ear trumpet, went into the Tombs court to apply for a summons for her husband, whom she charged with drunkenness and non-support. She said her name was Olive Logan and that her husband was a watchman on Ellis Island. When the news of her destitution reached England, Lady Cook, before her marriage Tennessee Claflin, sent her funds and, later, provided for her care in London. Without Lady Cook's knowledge Olive Logan, who had become demented, was committed to the asylum in Banstead, where she died.

By the death of George C. Thomas, which occurred at his home in Philadelphia last week, that city has lost one of its most distinguished citizens—the world, a simple, kindly and good man; the smaller world of bibliophiles, a man of faultless judgment and catholicity of taste. In the many lines of collecting which occupied Mr. Thomas's all too brief leisure, nothing appealed to him but the finest thing obtainable. He bought largely both at home and abroad, and no bookseller ever dreamed of offering him anything but that which was first-class. His library contained illuminated manuscripts, Americana, early printed books, a splendid collection of English Bibles from the first—that of Coverdale, printed in 1535—to important issues of the present version. His copy of the Eliot Indian Bible is one of the best known. His collection of the works of Charles Dickens was unmatched and is matchless. Dickens was his favorite author and in obtaining that author's printed and MS. productions Mr. Thomas spared neither energy, time nor money. Among the unique treasures relating to Dickens may be mentioned an original account book kept by him in 1829, when he was 17 years of age. Many of the names of customers appear attached to the novelist's characters in later years. In the Dickens collection, too, are many originals of the famous illustrations by Seymour, H. K. Browne and others. Noteworthy among them are the published drawings by Seymour to the "Pickwick Papers" and three others which were never engraved. This gives but a faint idea of the quality of the Dickensiana and several pages of THE PUBLISHERS WEEKLY could be devoted to it. Mr. Thomas's illuminated MSS. are (as compared with other divisions of the library) comparatively few, but of the most lovely character. Many of the finest examples sold at the dispersion of the great European collections will be found among them. One tiny volume of prayers is well authenticated as that used by Louis XVI. on his way to execution and by him given to the Abbé Edgeworth upon the scaffold. His autograph collections are almost bewildering in their riches. In this library reposes the original autograph despatch written by General Grant to Lincoln, announcing the surrender of General Lee. His set of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, of which a catalogue by A. Howard Ritter was published, has since that time been greatly extended and ranks now among the best known. A long description of it recently appeared in the New York Sun. Another document of great importance is the original charter of Pennsylvania, and near it reposes one of the two official copies of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution, signed by the Vice-President and the members of both houses. Inadequate as the above is to picture the great value and interest of the library it must serve in this limited space. It is to be hoped it will be found possible to keep the collection intact and to publish a complete catalogue of it. The attendance at Mr. Thomas's funeral ran into the thousands, and marked the esteem in which he was held. Publicly and privately he was a large and wise benefactor and his loss is keenly felt. No one will feel it more than those whose privilege it was to have personal dealings with him. The impression upon the writer's mind of Mr. Thomas's personality and acts recalls vividly that of the Cheeryble Brothers as pictured by Mr. Thomas's favorite author, Charles Dickens.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

BLISS CARMAN has accepted an invitation from the programme committee of the Vermont Lake Champlain tercentary commission to write the memorial poem for the public exercises for "Burlington Day," to be celebrated July 8.

HENRY HOWARD BASHFORD, whose "Pilgrim's March" bids fair to be a success, is an Englishman, only 28 years of age. He won his degree of M.D. from the London University last year. His father was chaplain to Queen Victoria, and Dr. Bashford himself takes interest in theological themes.

CAMILLE FLAMMARION has just startled Paris by showing that the earth has bearing as the ocean has, eight inches being the rise and fall of terra firma in every twenty-four hours. The theory is not new, Flammarion ascribing the discovery to Hecker, the German astronomer. Physicists and astronomers have known the fact for some time; what is new in Flammarion's information is the amount of oscillation, which experimenters before him have been unable to determine.

THE trustees of Barnard College, on April 28, dedicated the following tablet to the memory of Pearl Mary-Teresa Craigie ("John Oliver Hobbes"):

PEARL MARY-TERESA CRAIGIE

(John Oliver Hobbes).

November 3, 1867—August 13, 1906.

A Tribute to Her Memory from Many Friends.

The exercises in Brinkerhoff Theatre were opened by Silas B. Brownell, chairman of the board of trustees, who spoke of the high esteem in which Mrs. Craigie's works and personality are held, and explained that this tablet was erected to her memory by a number of her friends who hoped in this way to preserve her memory and interest in her works among the girls of Barnard College. Joseph H. Choate, Mrs. A. A. Anderson and the Rev. Father John J. Wynne also spoke.

EMILY POST, whose work during the present year is bringing her rapidly into the front rank as a writer of fiction, is at present making an extended trip through the far West, to gain a first hand familiarity with what she terms the "dominant American type" from which, she thinks, springs most of the real strength of the country. Heretofore, her travels, beginning in childhood, have taken her into Germany, France and Italy, in each of which countries she remained for extended periods, becoming adept in the languages and learning the real life of the people. But with the growth of her mental horizon, she has felt more and more that American writers should know and write about their own country. Her studies for John Derby, in "The Title Market," the remarkable serial now running in Everybody's Magazine, to be published in book form by Dodd, Mead & Co. next fall, brought her into close touch with the sulphur mines of Louisiana and the copper mines of Michigan, and later with the extraordinary conditions under which sulphur is produced in Sicily. This first-hand knowledge of Italy, with an already intimate acquaintance with Rome and the court life there, has enabled her to present, on account of its reality, a very remarkable international novel.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—H. A. Farnell & Brothers, booksellers, are now at 205 Montague Street.

CLAREMONT, VT.—Josiah Gove has sold his book business to U. C. Dodge and R. E. Dodge.

LAKE CHARLES, LA.—The charter of the Irvine Bookstore, Ltd., has been filed for record. The newly incorporated company, it is reported, has a capital stock of $10,000. The purpose of the corporation is to conduct a retail business in books, stationery, periodicals, cigars and tobacco, notions, art supplies, etc. Oscar B. Richard, G. Oscar Irvine, Chester Irvine and Mrs. P. A. Frederic are the first board of directors, of whom Oscar B. Richard is president, Chester Irvine, vice-president, and G. Oscar Irvine, secretary and treasurer.

NEW YORK CITY.—Bigelow, Smith & Co., publishers, have removed to 296 Broadway.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

B. W. DODGE & Co. announce a book entitled "Bible Rimes for the Not Too Young," by Oliver Herford and Clare Kummer.

RICHARD G. BADGER will publish May 1, "Dyke's corners," a story of country life, by E. Clarence Oakley. The plot of the story centres around a certain marvelous camera which is the invention of the hero.

ANTHONY PARTRIDGE's novel, "The Kingdom of Earth," which was one of the most popular periodical serial stories of 1908, will be published by Little, Brown & Company on May 22. "The Kingdom of Earth" is a romance of adventure and intrigue containing the romance of a European crown prince and a talented American girl.

HENRY ALTEMUS COMPANY have nearly ready a little volume for which they expect a wide popularity. It is the work of that clever correspondent and newspaper writer, Samuel G. Blythe, and as the title, "We Have With Us To-night," indicates, it is a clever burlesque upon the average banquet and the after-dinner speaker with which every one is but too familiar.

THE BIBLIOTHECA SACRA COMPANY, Oberlin, O., announce as ready for the press a volume entitled "Miracle and Science: the Bible Record of Miracles examined by the Methods, Rules and Standards of the Science of Jurisprudences as Administered in Courts of Justice," by F. J. Lamb. This is a work of marked ability, by an eminent legal authority, worthy of being compared with Greenleaf's "Testimony of the Evangelists."

THE following books, not previously announced, will be published by Houghton Mifflin Co. next month: "Military Hygiene," by Major Percy H. Ashburn, U. S. A.; "Economic Heresies," by Sir Nathaniel Nathan; "Moncure D. Conway, Addresses and Reprints, 1850-1907," and "Charles Edward Garman, a Memorial Volume." The new edition of "The Life and Letters of George Ticknor," announced by this firm, has been postponed until the early autumn.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY publish this week a work on the "Royal Palaces of Spain," by Albert F. Calvert, (which completes the Spanish Series), an historical and descriptive account of the seven principal palaces of the Spanish kings—the Escorial, La Granja, El Pardo, Aranjuez, Miramar, El Alcazar and the Royal Palace at Madrid; also, "The Woman and the Car," by Miss Dorothy Levitt, a chatty little handbook for all women who motor or who want to motor.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will bring out next week two of their most important spring novels. In "Love's Privilege," by Stella M. Daring, the publishers feel that they have an unusually clever novel of mystery. The story recently won a $1000 prize in a competition held by a leading newspaper, which offered another $1000 in prizes for the best solution. Out of some 3500 solutions received, there were only 106 correct, or approximately correct. "The Winning Chance" is the first novel of Elizabeth Dejeans, and those who have read the story feel that this author has pictured the "big" problem of the American girl in a strikingly original and powerful manner.

DENT & Co. are publishing an edition of Marlowe's "Hero and Leander," which is to be printed in a new fount of type and form the first volume of their Renaissance Library. The design of the publishers is to print in a worthy style the rarer pieces of verse and prose, which lovers of the by-ways of literature alone know and care for. The Jenson type has been taken as the basis for this new series. They are also just bringing out a new edition of Malory's "Morte d'Arthur," with Aubrey Beardsley's illustrations. These illustrations cover the first work done by Beardsley for publication. He was then nineteen years old. His edition has been for some time out of print and stray copies sell at a high price.

JOHN JOSEPH McVEY, 1229 Arch Street, Philadelphia, has just published an interesting pamphlet on "German Schleyball," (German Bat-Ball,) a game of ball described in four grades of difficulty, by Richard Pertugh, instructor of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde and La Salle College of Philadelphia. This is the national game of Germany, where it has been played for centuries. It can be played by small children, boys or girls, men or women. It absolutely excludes all roughness. It is the only highly-organized game which engages all players to vigorous activity and does not limit the number of participants. It can be played indoors as well as out of doors, and can be played in all seasons on account of the lively activity of all players.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will bring out on May 8 "A Handbook of Modern French Painting," by Professor D. Cady Eaton, of Yale University, with 250 illustrations, which is intended for those travellers who desire more information about modern French painting than is given in ordinary guide books; also, "Studies in Several Literatures," by Professor Harry Thurston Peck, twelve essays relating to some of the famous books and authors of the world, as well as to several literary "movements." Among the authors considered are Juvenal, the Greek and Roman novelists, Milton, Tennyson, Longfellow, Emerson, Zola, Daudet, Poe and some of the writers belonging to what may be called the Middle Period of American literature.

DUFFIELD & Co. have just brought out in their series of Lamb Shakespeare for the Young "An Evening with Shakespeare," being an entertainment of readings, tableaux, and songs set to the old tunes, arranged by T. Maskell Hardy, with pictures and music. They have also just ready a book of sketches and descriptions of Ireland and the Irish by William Elroy Curtis, author of "Between the Andes and the Ocean," called "One Irish Summer," fully illustrated from photographs.

They have purchased from Doubleday, Page & Co., who purchased it from McClure's, the late Herman Knickerbocker Viele's novel, "Myra of the Pines." This completes the list of Mr. Viele's prose writings, with the exception of a posthumous volume, all of which are to be found in Duffield & Co.'s catalogue.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish in early May "The Inner Shrine," which has had a famous run in Harper's Magazine and will preserve its anonymity, even in book form, to the mystified public; a novel by Justus Miles Forman, and one by Mrs. Rose O'Neill Wilson, who is almost equally strong as illustrator and novelist. The publishers have not yet made public the titles of the two latter books. Hardy's "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is to appear in small size, on special thin Bible paper, in cover of flexible cloth, and may be the first of a complete set of Hardy to be issued in this form; and Motley's "History of the United States," formerly published in four volumes, is now offered in a set of two, entirely unabridged, the difference in bulk being due to thinner paper.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will publish on May 10 "The Further Adventures of Quincy Adams Sawyer," by Charles Felton Pidgin, author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," etc. Several years have passed since "people wondered who he was, where he was going, and how long he was going to stay," and the manly young figure behind the old white horse drove himself into hearts that had been inaccessible. "Mason's Corner" satisfied itself on those puzzling points, but Quincy's popularity so steadily increased that the author has been obliged to yield to thousands of requests for more. What the "Old Homestead" has been to theatregoers, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" has been to readers, for "Three Miles to Mason's Corner" pointed thousands to old homestead scenes and heart memories.

THE JOHN MCBRIDE CO., New York, bring out this week "The King Who Never Reigned," being memoirs upon Louis xvii. by Eckard and Naundorff, with a preface by Jules Lemaitre, of the Académie Française, together with introduction and notes by Maurice Vitrac and Arnould Galopin, to which is added Joseph Turquaz's "New Light Upon the Fate of Louis xvii."; also, "A Book of Witches," by Oliver Madox Hueffer, with a frontispiece in colors by W. Heath Robinson, both of which have already been fully described by us. They will publish on May 14 "Love Letters of Famous Poets and Novelists," edited with biographical and descriptive notes by Lionel Strachey and Walter Littlefield, which contains some 170 letters selected from the authentic correspondence of 17 literary celebrities with their spouses, sweethearts, or paramours.

AN interesting announcement comes from Houghton Mifflin Company, that they are to publish on May 15 a volume entitled "Charles W. Eliot, President of Harvard University, May 19, 1869—May 19, 1909," by Dr.

Eugen Kuhnemann, Professor of Philosophy at the University of Breslau. Although a large amount of matter has been published in the last few months about Dr. Eliot and his work, this is the first attempt to put into book form a careful, thoughtful and dispassionate study of the influence of Harvard's great president on American education, and coming from the pen of a leading German educator, who has recently served as exchange professor at Harvard, it will be awaited with unusual interest. Rollin Lynde Hartt's new book, "The People at Play," which Houghton Mifflin Company will publish the last of May, takes the reader into the theatres frequented by "the other half"—to the dime museum, amusements, parks, beaches, etc.—which polite society never sees but which may be read about here with a very real interest and pleasure. The volume is profusely illustrated by the author.

ANNA WARNER'S latest book, "In a Mysterious Way," will be published by Little, Brown & Company, on May 1. It has the delightful women characters which Mrs. Warner always supplies for her stories and an unusual love plot. An interesting feature of the book lies in the discussions regarding the preservation of a beautiful tract of woodland and a series of falls, which the state is endeavoring to utilize for water power. Glen Iris, which contains a celebrated gorge and the three falls of the Genesee, was given to the State of New York by Mr. Litchworth, with the express purpose of preserving it in its natural beauty for nature lovers. The state immediately proposed to sell the water power, thus totally defeating Mr. Litchworth's intent. A fight is still on in the legislature as to whether this shall be permitted. Mrs. Warner recently spent a month in Portage, N. Y., and became much interested in the matter. The arguments pro and con are both utilized in "In a Mysterious Way," but it is easy to discern that Mrs. Warner's sympathies are wholly with the donor of this property, whose kindness is so abused.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish early next month "The Conquest of the Isthmus," by Hugh C. Weir, who will give the real story of the great battle with the jungle that is being waged by the great khaki army of the United States who are joining the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and building the greatest dams and locks in the history of the world; "The Rise of the Mediæval Church," by Alexander Clarence Flick, professor of European history in Syracuse University, who follows the change from the Apostle Church of the first century to the ecclesiastical monarchical hierarchy of the Middle Ages; and "What Have the Greeks Done for 'Civilization?'" a collection of the lectures delivered by Professor J. P. Mahaffy at the Lowell Institute in Boston, 1908-09. They will publish during the month a work on "The Columbia River," by Professor W. D. Lyman, professor of history at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.; "Fernando Cortés and His Conquest of Mexico," by Francis MacNutt, the new volume in the Heroes of the Nations Series; "Fresh Fields and Legends Old and New," by Sarah J. Day, who also has written "Mayflower and Mistletoe," of which a revised edition is ready; and "Mosquitoes: In Time of Peace Prepare for War," by E. G. Mitchell, a book that should be of great interest to scientists.

PICK-UPS.

AUTHOR-ITATIVE.—A publisher is a man who hopes to make an income by bringing out books.—The Author.

A SCOTSMAN walked into a Montreal bookshop and, as the assistant thought, asked for Robert Burns. On being told this the proprietor of the shop himself got down three or four editions of the poet and took them to the waiting Scotsman. The customer, however, shook his head hopelessly and said, "It's nae Robert Burns I askit for, but rubber bands!"

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplaced advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

125 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

125 Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

IMPORTANT NEW FICTION*Ready May 10th*From Page's
ListTHE FURTHER ADVENTURES of
QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER AND MASON
CORNER FOLKSBy CHARLES FELTON PIDGINAuthor of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," "Blennerhasset," etc. Illustrated . . $1.50*

From the advance demand for this book we are convinced that it will have the same popularity which made its predecessor, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," a household word several years ago. Those who enjoyed so heartily the old homestead scenes and heart memories of the earlier book, will look forward with pleasure to a renewal of acquaintance with Mr. Pidgin's most popular characters.

SECOND PRINTINGDAVID BRANBy MORLEY ROBERTSAuthor of "Rachel Marr," etc.
Illustrated. $1.50*

"As to the hearts of some men and of some women, he is cynical. But he draws capital pictures of the gossiping old men of Trescas—and when he is sounding for us the deeps in the nature of Lou Trevarris, Kate Poldrew, and even David Bran, the name of his writer's gift is Wonderful."

—*N. Y. World.*THIRD PRINTINGA GENTLEMAN
OF QUALITYBy Frederic Van Rensselaar DeyIllustrated. $1.50*

"In 'A Gentleman of Quality' Mr. Dey has written an absorbing tale of mystery. Although events follow so rapidly upon one another, the reader is now and then compelled to trace back the reason underlying every trial. It is this quality of depth—a something that we feel—which makes the book the most intimately interesting mystery story of the year."—Boston Herald.

PUBLISHED APRIL 20thThe MYSTERY of MISS MOTTEBy CAROLINE ATWATER MASONAuthor of "A Lily of France," "The Binding of the Strong," etc. Illustrated. $1.25*

A fascinating mystery story—with a heroine who is certain to become one of the season's favorites.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 298 B'way, N. Y.SOMETHING FOR BOOK-FANCIERS

The undersigned has in his possession, and offers for sale one copy of "Liturgia Suecanæ ecclesiæ catholicæ et orthodoxæ conformis. Stockholmiae excudebat Torbernus Tidemann anno 1576." Original binding. folio. This book, commonly known as the "Red book," was prepared for publication by Petrus Fechter, under the supervision of King John III. Title-page and preface missing, because the first copies were published without them. The binding is genuinely original, and the book has never been rebound. This is one of the most unique and rare of all Swedish publications.

"Simply Unsolvable"

THE PRIZE MYSTERY STORY

LOVE'S PRIVILEGE

By STELLA M. DURING

THIS novel recently won a thousand-dollar prize in a leading Chicago newspaper's competition, and was pronounced as perhaps the most baffling mystery story of recent years—out of some three thousand five hundred solutions received there were only one hundred and six correct, or approximately correct.
